POLICE ARE BAFFLED

Mystery Still Surrounds Atlantic City Shooting.

HELD-UP THEORY DOUBTED

Higher Circles of Baltimore Society, Where Two of the Principal Actors Resided, Are Greatly Stirred Up on Account of the Occurrence.

Atlantic City, Sept. 1.—Still baffled elements in the case that are stronger and stronger than any they have yet encountered, the Atlantic City police Monday continued their investigation of the shooting of C. J. Roberts Jr., of Baltimore. Mrs. S. G. Williams, also of Baltimore, who was in the rolling chair on the Atlantic City board walk with Mr. Roberts when the attack occurred, returned to her home Sunday with the permission of this department as a witness posted at police headquarters announced.

Robbery Theory Not Entertained. Mrs. Williams promised before leaving that she would be available whenever the police might desire to further question her. The statements she has made thus far have been to the effect that she believed Mr. Roberts' assailant to have been actuated by a motive of robbery, a theory which the police of Atlantic City refuse to entertain despite the fact that it has been strongly urged by nearly every friend and relative of the parties concerned in the affair. None of the circumstances, the police declare, denoted an attempt at a holdup and they have dismissed the idea altogether.

Society Circles Stirred. Probably no occurrence of recent years has so stirred the higher circles of Baltimore society as the shooting of Mr. Roberts, when in company with Mrs. Williams, whose beauty and talents as well as all her family connections have made her a prominent figure in all of the smart circles of the Maryland metropolis. The Baltimore police early were appealed to by the local authorities and a detective was sent from here to investigate the whereabouts of Mr. Williams on the night of the attack. That detective is still in Baltimore, and Chief of Police Woodruff announces that he has received no such report from the officer as would cause him to abandon the original line of inquiry.

CHINESE EDICT ISSUED.

Conversion of Form of Government to Foreign System. Peking, Sept. 1.—An edict has been issued setting forth in detail the stages that will be reached each year in the conversion of the form of government of China to the foreign system, and assuring the people, in the name of the emperor, that a constitution will be promulgated nine years hence. An edict issued last year promised a constitution within a decade.

Recently there has been a formidable movement in the provinces looking toward the securing of a constitution and international delegations which have come to Peking to inquire into the matter have been treated with great respect by the members of the grand council.

Married Girl Who Liked His Song. Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 1.—"I am looking for a Girl Just Like You," sang Walter Bellrose, at the Lyric place show this week. Miss Adelle Edwards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Edwards, of Montgomery, heard the song and saw the singer. The result was mutual love and they were married Saturday night. Mr. Bellrose is a Canadian.

Japanese Leaving Brazil. Rio Janeiro, Sept. 1.—The Japanese immigrants who were sent to the state of Sao Paulo by the Imperial immigration company, of Tokio, are leaving that section in large numbers. They have been at work on the coffee plantations, but apparently were not satisfied with the employment.

DEATH OF GEN. STEWART.

One of Last Two Lieutenant Generals of Confederacy.

Bloxi, Miss., Sept. 1.—General Alexander P. Stewart, one of the last two surviving lieutenants general of the confederacy, died at his home here Sunday. Although in his eighty-seventh year, and suffering from the infirmities of old age, General Stewart's death was sudden and came as a distinct shock and surprise to his relatives, comrades and friends. Gen. Stewart had been in failing health here at the home of his son, Dr. A. P. Stewart, Jr., for a year or more. Death was due to heart disease.

General Stewart was a native of Tennessee, and lived the greater part of his life in that state, but of late years had been making his home in Bloxi, where he found the salt air and pine woods of great benefit to his health.

The body was shipped to St. Louis, Mo., where General Stewart lived for a number of years.

General Stewart was born in Rogersville, Hawkins county, Tennessee, on Oct. 2, 1821. His parents were William and Elizabeth Decherd Stewart. He graduated from West Point in 1842, before he was twenty-one years old. Mr. Stewart was one of the earliest volunteers in the confederate army. He offered his service to Isham G. Harris, then governor of the state, who placed him on detail work. Later Governor Harris made Stewart a major in the artillery corps from which place he rose to higher positions on account of bravery and distinguished services.

HANGED HIMSELF IN CELL.

Man Insane from Having Slain Wife and Wounded Son.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Clay City, Ill., says that insane as the result of having slain his wife and wounded his son in error, Julius Turner, a farmer, committed suicide in the county jail Sunday night. He hanged himself with the sheets from his cot.

The shooting of Mrs. Turner and her son occurred on June 29. The murder was the result of insane jealousy on the part of the husband. The son was mistaken for a rival and he and his mother were shot while they were standing in the dark just outside the village church. Turner, who was sixty-nine years of age, had been separated from his wife for some time before the shooting. He was reputed to be wealthy. Mrs. Turner was forty-nine years of age.

Turner, overcome by remorse and sorrow, had been out of his mind ever since the shooting. He had been more concerned in the condition of his son than he had in his own fate and had frequently said he cared not what the authorities did to him, so long as his boy would recover.

In this last wish he seemed to have been gratified, as the boy, although seriously wounded, has recovered rapidly and is well on the way to health again.

Captured After Long Chase.

Ogden, Utah, Sept. 1.—After tracing them to Buenos Ayres, South America, and from that point to Ogden, the federal authorities Sunday placed under arrest Delciba Adellia and Montello Joseph, an Italian man and woman, the latter said to have been brought to this country for immoral purposes, and it is said they will be deported. It is also said that this couple are wanted as witnesses in a New York murder case. The chase which resulted in the arrests was one of the longest made by the government officers in years.

Ninety-Eight Added to Church.

Roanoke, Ala., Sept. 1.—Rev. T. J. Porter, pastor of the First Baptist church of Roanoke, Ala., held one of the greatest revivals with the First Baptist church of Tallapoosa, Ga., ever conducted in that part of the state. The meeting lasted just ten days, which resulted in ninety-eight additions to the church.

Rear Admiral Fithian Dead.

Bridgetown, N. J., Sept. 1.—Rear Admiral Edwin Fithian, retired, chief engineer of the United States navy, died at his home here, aged eighty-three years.

$1,400,000 FIRE LOSS

Three Blocks in New Orleans Swept by Flames.

FIREMEN AT ANNUAL PICNIC

This, Together with Other Circumstances Combined, Gave the Fire a Headway Which Was Hard to Overcome.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 1.—An estimate Monday of the damage done by the fire which Sunday destroyed several blocks in the heart of the business portion of New Orleans places the damage at $1,400,000.

All together, sixty-two different concerns had their places badly damaged or totally destroyed. These covered several lines of manufacturing industries, wholesale dry goods, millinery and clothing establishments and smaller stores.

Bank Buildings in Danger.

An inventory of the buildings in the fire swept district shows that many places of business which were reported Sunday night as having been totally destroyed are badly damaged, in reality suffering very little loss. It was reported at one time during the night that two banking institutions had been totally destroyed and this rumor created considerable alarm among many depositors in the confusion attendant upon the fire. Later it was announced through official channels that both the Morgan and People's Banks and Trust company were in great danger of being destroyed. Less fear was felt for the Morgan bank than for the Peoples'. The latter institution during the night removed a large portion of its contents under an armed guard to an uptown bank. Police patrol wagons were used by the bankers in this task.

Investigation Being Made.

An investigation is being made by the state fire marshal in an effort to determine what caused the fire. The flames were first seen pouring out of the windows of the Central Glass company in Bienville street, but the proprietors of this establishment say they are unable to account for the origin of the fire.

The fire spread with such rapidity that the proper officials are making an effort to learn why the entire strength of the fire department was not concentrated against the flames earlier than it was. Complaint was made that the water supply was inadequate and added to this was the fact that the firemen were in the midst of their annual outing at a suburban park when the fire was discovered. As a result the fire fighting apparatus arrived at the fire with half crews.

WARD METHODS IN CHURCH.

Declaration of New Orleans Pastor in Farewell Sermon.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 1.—In delivering his farewell sermon to the congregation of St. George Protestant Episcopal church Sunday, Rev. W. E. Denham declared that in many so-called churches of Christ, nowadays, the same methods were adopted by congregation leaders that were used by ward leaders in politics.

Mr. Denham's resignation followed strife which arose in the church over his refusal to administer the sacrament to a certain woman communicant. He will return to England and serve under the Bishop of London.

Test of New Balloon Device.

New York, Sept. 1.—Naval officers and aeronautical experts Sunday afternoon witnessed the successful trial of a new balloon water anchor in the North river. The anchor is the invention of Leon Stevens, the aeronaut, and is so constructed that it may be dropped into the water and it will hold the balloon as long as desired. By pulling a cord the bottom is opened and the anchor is easily lifted. It is the purpose of the anchor to save the lives of aeronauts who are blown out to sea.

DRAMATIC HAND-TO-HAND FIGHT.

Men Battled on Top of Blast Furnace for Girl.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—Through the death of Nicholas Vidovick, the story of a dramatic hand-to-hand struggle on the top of a blast furnace of the Iroquois iron company for the possession of a pretty Polish girl was made known.

Vidovick, according to George Oetlick, an eyewitness, crept up behind his rival, Ivan Meallitch, and attempted to throw him into the fiery pit below. Both men fell to the narrow platform, but recovered and continued the struggle. The news spread about the plant and work was dropped by all hands to watch the thrilling struggle with its background of flames. Suddenly Meallitch broke away and felled his antagonist with a crow-bar. Meallitch then gave himself up.

He declared that his rival had long been seeking a chance to push him into the furnace and that he owed his life to having been on his guard when the attack came.

TO HOLD SECOND PRIMARY.

Interest in Senatorial Race in South Carolina.

Columbia, S. C., Sept. 1.—Although the storm which followed the primary of last Tuesday has badly crippled schedules and wire communications, the candidates who led in the election have lost no time in building up their fences and making preparations for the second primary, which will be held on Sept. 8, two weeks following the first.

Interest centers in the senatorial contest. In this race are E. D. Smith, who has been prominently identified with the Southern Cotton association throughout the south, and former Gov. John Gary Evans. Smith led in the first primary with 30,612 votes, while Evans was second with 27,554.

BAPTISTS MEET IN BERLIN.

One Thousand Delegates Attend the Convention in German Capital.

Berlin, Sept. 1.—Every Baptist pulpit in Berlin was occupied Sunday by a foreign pastor, and the churches were crowded. Many nations were represented, there being about 1,000 delegates in attendance on the congress of European Baptists, representing all the greater nations.

David Floyd-George, British chancellor of the exchequer, sent a message to the president of the congress urging Baptists to do their part in the promotion of peace, and all the sermons and addresses delivered advocated a better understanding between Great Britain and Germany.

Plans New Political Party.

Atlanta, Sept. 1.—Col. Sidney C. Tapp, of Atlanta, author of a number of well known books, including "The Struggle," has announced that he proposes to organize an independent political party, which will have as one of its cardinal principles the opposition to any church ownership of property, except for religious worship. Mr. Tapp asks that all those in sympathy with his ideas on this subject write to him in Atlanta, Ga. He expects to begin his lecture tour about the 20th of September in Boston.

Call Issued to Committee.

Atlanta, Sept. 1.—The state democratic executive committee has been called to meet in the ballroom of the new Kimball House on next Saturday morning, Sept. 5. The committee, which meets for the second time since it was named at the convention, on June 4, has for its object the settlement of the 111th county executive committee contest, the Fulton executive contest, and to confer on the work of organizing the state for the coming presidential campaign.

Gordon Lee Renominated.

Chickamauga, Ga., Sept. 1.—Hon. Gordon Lee was renominated for a third term in congress by the seventh district congressional convention, which met here Saturday. In accepting the nomination Mr. Lee made a straight, bold and sensible address, replete with practical suggestions and dealing modestly with his four years work in congress.

LONG STRIKE ENDED

Miners Will Return to Work in Birmingham District.

OFFICIAL ORDER WAS ISSUED

Strike Began on July 6 and Has Been Marked by Much Violence—News Received with Satisfaction in City of Birmingham.

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 1.—An official order calling off the strike of coal miners in the Birmingham district was issued to all the camps in this section Monday morning.

It was signed by President Lewis, Vice President White and Secretary-Treasurer Ryan, national officers of the United Mine Workers of America.

The order ends a strike which began July 6, and which has been marked by much violence.

The official order, after reviewing the history of the strike, says:

"The climax was reached when the governor of Alabama said that the miners shall not be permitted to live in tented camps and that public meetings shall not be held in the mining communities of the state during this strike. In other words, the strike must end, regardless of the cost to the miners or any rights they have in the premises.

"The United Mine Workers of America is a law-abiding institution. It is a defender of law and order. It believes in the maintenance of the peace and tranquility of every community.

"Since the state authorities have decided to end the strike, there is nothing for the United Mine Workers to do but bow in submission to the mandates. Recognizing the futility of continuing the strike under these circumstances, we have decided to declare it off Sept. 1, and take this means of notifying you that the strike is to be brought to an end and you are advised to secure employment.

"No one can regret more keenly than ourselves this ending of the strike in Alabama.

"The United Mine Workers, as an organization, will do now as it always has done for its striking members—assist them in need, and help those who cannot secure employment to go elsewhere."

This is signed by T. L. Lewis, president; John P. White, vice president; W. D. Ryan, secretary-treasurer, of the United Mine Workers of America.

APPEALS FOR HELP.

War Department Will Aid Flood Sufferers of the South.

Washington, Sept. 1.—The executive committee of the American Red Cross Society has authorized C. L. Magee, secretary of the society, to issue an appeal to the public for funds for the flood sufferers of the south. The need for aid over a large area of the south is declared to be very pressing.

An appeal also has been made to the war department for aid on behalf of the sufferers from the floods in Georgia. Secretary Wright is in receipt of the following telegram from Representative Thomas W. Hardwick, of that state: "City of Augusta, Ga., has just been visited with an awful storm and flood, involving heavy loss of life and property. Many people are destitute, homeless and suffering for food. Can not the war department render emergency aid? What ever is done or to be done, ought to be done quickly. Answer."

A telegraphic order was sent immediately to General Potts, department of the gulf, at Atlanta, directing him to detail an officer to proceed at once to Augusta to make the necessary investigation and to render such aid as may be possible within the appropriation available for such purposes.

$75,000 Fire at Selma.

Selma, Ala., Sept. 1.—The dry kiln of the Vreelandburgh sawmill at Pine Hill, Ala., 50 miles south of Selma, has been destroyed by fire. A hotel near the plant was also destroyed. The loss will approximate $75,000, covered by insurance.

INCREASE IN LAST YEAR'S LUMBER CUT

AND THE WHY OF IT

Washington, Sept. 1.—Figures of the lumber cut in 1907 compiled by the Bureau of Census and the Forest Service showed the largest total ever reported in the United States, exceeding by over seven per cent the cut reported for 1906, until then the record year. This does not necessarily show a larger actual cut than in 1906, for the returns obtained last year were more complete than ever before. The figures themselves disclose some interesting facts.

In 1907, 28,850 mills made returns, and their production was over forty billion feet of lumber. This is believed to include 95 per cent of the actual cut. In 1906, 22,398 mills reported about thirty-seven and a half billion feet. Since according to these figures nearly 20 per cent more mills reported last year than the year before, while the increase in production was only a little over seven per cent, it might be thought that the amount actually manufactured must have been greater in the earlier year. This, however, would be a too hasty inference, for it is almost wholly among mills of small individual output that the gain in the number of establishments reporting has been made.

A classification of the returns by States and regions throws additional light on the situation. Individual changes, as for example the remarkable rise of Texas from eighth to third place among the lumber-producing States, are doubtless accounted for primarily by the greater accuracy of the 1907 figures; but in the majority of cases the advances and declines can be traced to specific influences.

Before the year closed the general business depression was severely felt in the lumber industry. It was not, however, the most important cause of a falling off in the production of the year where a falling off occurred, for decline in production took place only in certain regions. The South is the region of greatest activity in lumber production, and yellow pine the most important wood, forming 33 per cent of the entire cut of the country. The cut of yellow pine reported shows an increase of 13 per cent over that of 1906. In the early part of the year many of the Southern mills cut so heavily that, in spite of the curtailed output which followed the business disturbance later, the total was greater than ever before. But in both the Lake States and the Northwest a smaller cut was reported than for 1906, though the number of mills reporting increased.

In the Lake States the falling off evidenced the waning supply of white pine. Michigan, which for many years led all the States in lumber production, and then gave way to Wisconsin, sank in 1907 from fourth to seventh place, while Wisconsin went from third to fifth. Minnesota as late as 1905 held fourth place; last year it went from seventh to ninth. It was not until the latter 90's that the South displaced this group of States as the most important source of lumber supply. Since Southern pine is abundant in all the Atlantic Coast States from the Carolinas to Texas, the region as a whole will doubtless maintain its leading position for some years, in spite of the fact that at the present rate the bulk of the timber will be gone in another decade; but in totals of production by individual States the leadership has since 1905 been held by Washington.

The figures of production show that during 1907 Washington fell off very decidedly from its huge cut of 1906, while its sister State, Oregon, is credited with a slight increase in its total. In the early part of the year Washington suffered from a car shortage, and at the end the combined effects of business disturbances and higher rates had brought the industry almost to paralysis. Oregon kept up its cut because of its larger proportion of coastwise and foreign trade. These two States together produced more lumber than any other two States in the Union.

It is a striking fact that though lumber prices have been steadily going up during the last half century, the per capita consumption of lumber has also been going up. In 1850, according to the best figures obtainable, the average consumption to each person in the country was 250 feet. In 1900, 460 feet, and in 1907, 480 feet. This illustrates what has been found true the world over—that with industrial progress the demand for wood becomes greater and greater.

CITRUS FOOT-ROT

By P. H. ROLFS

—Florida Agricultural Experiment Station—

The first symptom of the disease that is noticed is the oozing of gum from wounds occurring near the ground. Later on, the gumming ceases and the bark dries, the portion that has become diseased breaking off. These foot-rot wounds after they begin to heal are so characteristic, that when once seen they are rarely mistaken. The extent to which the wounds spread depends on a variety of circumstances. Sometimes they are very small, being not more than a fraction of an inch in diameter and more or less circular in outline; while at other times they may extend nearly or quite around the tree at the ground. In such cases the wound is of an irregular shape.

Remedy—Since we have known that the disease is infectious and understood the conditions which favor its spread, a remedy can be much more successfully applied. The following brief rules, if followed carefully and conscientiously, will eliminate the disease from a grove, and in many cases save trees that otherwise would be lost:

1. Remove the soil from about the crown and the crown-roots, at least as far back as any disease occurs. The greatest care should be exercised not to wound the roots in removing the soil. By wounding the roots, opportunity is given for the microbes to enter, and it is altogether possible that some virus of the disease may be on the implement used in removing the soil. A very small, even an invisible amount of the virus, is capable of starting the disease in a new place; consequently, any tools or implements used about a foot-rot tree should be thoroughly disinfected before being used on a healthy one.

2. After the soil has been removed from the crown, cut out the diseased parts. For this purpose a large pocket-knife with a strong blade is a handy instrument. The bark should be cut away as far as the disease occurs, which can be easily told by a yellowish or dark discoloration of the inner bark. As the disease rarely penetrates into the wood, it will be sufficient to remove the bark.

3. After the diseased part has all been cut out, apply an antiseptic wash. One of the most readily obtainable and also one of the best, is crude carbolic acid—using one part of the acid to one part of water. This may be applied with a paint-brush, or with a swab. Most people find the latter the handler of the two, and it can be readily made by wrapping the end of a stick with some old cotton cloth.

When the disease makes its appearance early in the year, it may be necessary to repeat this operation a second time, or even more frequently. The frequency with which the operation should be performed will depend upon climatic conditions and on the severity of the infection.

4. After the above remedy has been applied, and no new cases of foot-rot have been discovered for a period of two or three months, the following wash may be applied to the trunks of the trees and to such larger roots as are exposed: Three parts of slacked lime, mixed with one part of flowers of sulphur. The ingredients may be easily mixed by passing them through a sieve, or by working them on the floor, very much as fertilizers are mixed. After they are evenly mixed, place the powder in a tub or barrel, and add enough water to bring it to the consistency of paint. The right amount of water can easily be determined by trial. If the wash covers the surface well and flows easily from the brush, it will be about right. The trunks of the trees and all of the exposed roots should be given a thorough coating of this material. In groves where foot-rot is just starting and where the wounds are all very small, this wash alone will frequently be found sufficient. In groves where foot-rot occurs on a considerable percentage of the trees, it will be best to apply the wash to the trunks and larger roots of all the trees—those that are not affected as well as the diseased ones.

A Traveling Man's Experience.

"I must tell you my experience on an East bound O. R. & N. R. R. train from Pendleton to LeGrande, Ore.," writes Sam A. Garber, a well-known traveling man. "I was in the smoking department with some other traveling men when one of them went out into the coach and came back and said: 'There is a woman sick unto death in the car.' I at once got up and went out, found her very ill with cramp colic; her hands and arms were drawn up so you could not straighten them, and with a death-like look on her face. Two or three ladies were working with her and giving her whiskey. I went to my suit case and got my bottle of Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy (I never travel without it), ran to the water tank, put a double dose of the medicine in the glass, poured some water into it and stirred it with a pencil; then I had quite a time to get the ladies to let me give it to her, but I succeeded. I could at once see the effect and I worked with her, rubbing her hands, and in twenty minutes I gave her another dose. By this time we were almost into LeGrande, where I was to leave the train. I gave the bottle to the husband in case another dose should be needed, but by the time the train ran into LeGrande she was all right, and I received the thanks of every passenger in the car." Dr. Newman Addressed Baptists.

Berlin, Sept. 1.—The Rev. Dr. Albert H. Newman of Texas, the church historian, addressed the congress of European Baptists which is in session here on "Baptists as Pioneers in Liberty of Conscience." He said that coming as he did from a land where liberty of conscience prevailed far more than a century he felt somewhat at a disadvantage before a gathering to many of whom oppression was a horrible reality. Dr. Newman illustrated the wisdom of complete liberty of conscience as demonstrated in America.

Eastern Manager Selected.

Ridgefield, Conn., Sept. 1.—It was learned here that the selection of the eastern manager for the democratic national campaign has been virtually made by National Chairman Norman H. Mack, although it is understood that the announcement of the choice may not be made public for a few days. Chairman Mack was a guest of Melbert B. Cary, of this place, on Sunday, and it is understood that the national and state situation was discussed at some length.

BAIRD'S CRATE MILL DESTROYED BY FIRE

Terrible Conflagration Occurs at Early Hour This Morning.

EMPLOYED MANY HANDS

Destruction of Plant Will Mean Considerable Loss to City From Commercial Standpoint—Was One of Largest in the State.

An alarm from Box 82 summoned the fire department to the crossing of the Atlantic and Atlantic Coast Line tracks at 1:20 o'clock, the cause being a fire in the large Baird crate factory.

Due to the location of the plant, which was nearly a quarter of a mile from the nearest hydrant, and to the fact that the entire building was in flames when the alarm was turned in, the department was practically powerless to cope with the situation, and as a result the entire plant, including much material, raw as well as finished, was destroyed.

This factory was one of the largest and most modernly equipped in the State, and employed a large number of hands during the different seasons of the year. The origin of the fire is not known.

Two Loves United in Marriage.

Judson, Fla., Sept. 1.—Mr. William Love and Mrs. Joseph E. Love, widow of the late Homer Love, were united in marriage here Sunday night, by S. Tucker, notary public, performing the ceremony. They will make their home in Trenton, where the bride owns a nice residence. The happy couple have the best wishes of their hosts of friends for a long and happy married life.

The farmers hereabouts are all busy gathering their corn and cotton crops. The latter crop will be exceedingly short in this section, not more than half a crop being made. This is largely due to the continued dry spell and unusually hot weather after the rains came.

QUAIL AND SQUIRREL.

They Like to Inhabit Woodlands in City—Become Very Gentle.

Quail are not very timid when they are not molested and soon learn not to fear man, if man shows no intention to harm them. There is a little piece of woodland less than half a city block in extent in Riverside surrounded by improved property in which quail and squirrel still live and the passengers on the street car line which passes it are sometimes charmed by the sight of a covey of quail or a bushy tailed rodent crossing the street a safe distance ahead of the car. The Miami News-Record recently told of a similar flock of quail sometimes seen on the streets of that city and The St. Augustine Meteor of the 21st has the following: "The early morning 'call' of quail right here in the heart of the city makes one think, on opening his peepers just after the dawn of day, that he's in the country. The favorite spots for these birds which annually seek city life as ideal in which to brood, are the old cemetery lot, on Cordova street, and the inviting grounds surrounding the beautiful homes of Mr. Albert Lewis and Dr. Anderson."—Times-Union.

There used to be a number of coveys of quail in this city in close proximity to the public square, and there are several coveys now within the corporate limits of Gainesville, but such a thing as a squirrel is never seen in this city now.

Evergreen Cemetery Fenced.

Too much praise cannot be given Mesdames H. H. McCreary and F. D. Warner for their untiring efforts in having the above burial place enclosed by a substantial iron fence, the funds for the payment of which are nearly all now in, and the balance of which should be promptly forthcoming without further soliciting on the part of these ladies. It has been hard work for them to obtain the funds which warranted commencement of the work, and it is to be hoped that some of those who are able to do so will contribute sufficient funds with which to finish paying for the fence and gate, which must be paid for at once.

NEWS OF CITY AND COUNTY CONDENSED

R. M. Chamberlin, the successful trucker of Tacoma, was a business visitor to this city yesterday. Mr. Chamberlin states that the farmers are now busy cutting hay and gathering the fall crops, and many are preparing for the coming vegetable crop. Indications are that the acreage in trucking will be about the same as last season.

J. A. Phifer left yesterday for the Northern markets, where he goes to purchase the fall and winter stocks for both the New York Racket and Phifer & Morris. He expects to visit Baltimore, Washington and New York, and requests that The Sun follow him during his absence, as he desires to keep posted on the happenings of the city and community.

Among the prominent Micanopy people in the city yesterday was N. B. Mott, who conducts an extensive mercantile business at that place. He was en route from Santa Fe and Worthington Springs, where he has been for the past few days on a visit to relatives. Mr. Mott's popularity in Micanopy has resulted in working up a large and profitable trade in that town and community.

One of the prettiest combinations of a flower garden and fruit orchard we have seen is that of Mrs. T. B. Ellis, Sr., on West Liberty street. Cured Hay Fever and Summer Cold.

A. J. Nusbaum, Batesville, Indiana, writes: "Last year I suffered for three months with a summer cold so distressing that it interfered with my business. I had many of the symptoms of hay fever, and doctor's prescription did not reach my case, and I took several medicines which seemed to only aggravate my case. Fortunately I insisted upon having Foley's Honey and Tar in the yellow package, and it quickly cured me. My wife has since used Foley's Honey and Tar with the same success." J. W. McCollum & Co.

JEFFERSON'S HOME LIFE.

A reader of The Commoner sends in the following description of Jefferson's home life and it is printed with pleasure and appreciation. Lieutenant Hall, an Englishman, thus describes a visit to Jefferson's home:

"I slept at midnight at Monticello, and left it in the morning with such a feeling as the traveler quits the mouldering remains of a Grecian temple, or the pilgrim a fountain in the desert. It would, indeed, argue great torpor both of understanding and heart, to have looked without veneration and interest on the man who drew up the declaration of American independence; who shared in the councils by which her freedom was established; whom the unbought voice of his fellow-citizens called to the exercise of a dignity from which his own moderation impelled him, when such example was most salutary, to withdraw; and who, while he dedicated the evening of his glorious days to the pursuits of science and literature, shuns none of the humbler duties of private life; but, having filled a seat higher than that of kings, succeeds with greater dignity to that of the good neighbor, and becomes the friendly adviser, lawyer, physician, and even gardener of his vicinity. This is the 'still small voice' of philosophy, deeper and holier than the lightnings and earthquakes which had preceded it. What monarch would venture thus to exhibit himself in the nakedness of his humanity? On what royal brow would the laurel replace the diadem?"

It is a beautiful tribute to a man whose heart was full of love for his fellows and who, while measuring up to the highest duties of citizenship, was not above the modest kindnesses that beautify individual life and bless a neighborhood.—The Commoner.

Arthur Brown, manager of the Atwood Co.'s grapefruit grove at Manavista, in Manatee county, who has been in New York about a month, has returned to his Florida home. The Atwood grove is one of the finest in the State and Mr. Brown says they expect to have about 50,000 boxes of grapefruit this year, the quality being fine. "Last year we had only about 5,000 boxes," Mr. Brown recently remarked to The New York Packer man, "but this year we will have a fine crop. I believe there is more grapefruit growing in Manatee county than in any other county in Florida. The estimates I see of the grapefruit crop I believe are a little bit too liberal. I don't think the entire State will have over 25 per cent more than it had last year and the orange crop of Florida will not be any larger than it was last season. Manatee county is short."

To the old adage, "Be sure you are right, then go ahead," should be added—but go ahead, nevertheless. Do things. Create something. Be loyal to your motives. Have an objective and stick until it is obtained.

Those people who do things in a business way buy and rent property that has been brought to their notice by advertising.

SOME SURPRISES COMING.

"There are going to be some surprises in New York State and the New England States when the fall elections come around," said O. B. Blackburn, a soap and knit underwear manufacturer of New York and Providence. Mr. Blackburn made this statement to the Washington correspondent for The Louisville Courier-Journal. Then he added: "I think you will find that after the votes are counted that Mr. Bryan will be the man who will occupy the White House, and not your friend Taft. There is a change of sentiment throughout the Northeast that will not down, and it is all for Bryan. The people there do not look upon Bryan as they did twelve years ago. If you notice, several of the papers that were antagonistic to Bryan are slowly but certainly turning to him. I am a Democrat, but voted for Roosevelt, and would do so again; but I will not vote for his substitute, and that is the way many persons in that section of the country are talking. Many Republicans, business men—two of my partners, for instance—are going to vote for Bryan. One of them said a day or so ago that he thought Taft would, in a way, carry out Roosevelt's ideas, but they were sure Bryan would carry all of them out. They want certain revisions in the tariff, and will get it if Bryan is elected. Another thing, they are tired of the Cannon rule and feel that if Bryan is elected it will in a measure mark the downfall of 'Uncle Joe' as king of the House of Representatives. In the central part of New York State, which the Republicans have always considered strongly theirs, an undercurrent is moving that broods ill for the candidate who does not work for the farmers' and small manufacturers' interests. In going through that section of the State bankers, farmers and business men are discussing the issues and platform Mr. Bryan stands on, and all that I could hear was favorable. As I have said, they do not dislike Mr. Taft personally, but they do not like the idea of his standing on Mr. Roosevelt's 'plns.'"

If any one doubts that the life of a country editor is one of the happiest and most independent on earth let him read the following from The Palmetto News and be convinced: "We apologize for all mistakes made in former issues and say they were inexcusable, as all an editor has to do is to hunt news and clean the rollers and set type, sweep the floor and pen short items, and fold papers, and write wrappers, and make the paste, and mail the papers, and talk to visitors, and distribute type, and carry water, and saw wood and read the proofs, hunt the shears to write editorials and dodge the bills and dun delinquents, and take cussings from the whole force, and tell our subscribers that we must have money—we say that we've no business to make mistakes while attending to those little matters, and getting our living on fiddler soup flavored with imagination, and wearing old shoes and no collar and a patch on our pants, and obliged to turn a smiling countenance to the man who tells us our paper ain't worth a dollar, anyhow, and that he could make a better one with his eyes shut."—Times-Union.

CONTROLLING SUBMARINE MINES

In an illustrated article on submarine mines The September Popular Mechanics says:

"Electrical mines are classified as controllable and non-controllable. Those of the former class may be rendered dangerous or inert at the will of an operator on the shore, and may be tested at any time. The non-controllable electrical mines are fired by means of a firing battery which is thrown overboard after the planting vessel has drawn off to a safe distance. The mine is then to all intents and purposes a mechanical one and the use of the electrical firing battery has resulted solely from the danger incident to planting the latter.

"The two favored methods used for firing mechanical mines are as follows: A glass tube containing sulphuric acid is placed so that it will be broken by the jar when the mine is struck and allow the acid to come in contact with potassium chlorate. The heat of reaction causes the explosion of the charge. The second method is an arrangement of pistol and ball so that the ball will be thrown against the pistol trigger when the mine is struck and cause a shot to be fired into the charge, exploding it.

"The explosives used in submarine mines are black powder, dynamite, and wet gun cotton. Of these the last two are the most effective. In selecting explosives the three greatest requirements are: retention of normal strength under the conditions incident to the service, to wit: lapse of time, alternate freezing and thawing, occasional wetting and even saturation with water; convenience in loading—involving safety in transportation and handling with ordinary roughness—a form which admits of ready insertion in a hole small enough to be rendered watertight, and a high density in small bulk; and the greatest possible effect when fired under water in such envelopes as are suitable for submarine mines."

It is estimated that 500 acres will be devoted to celery another season in the section known as the Sanford celery district. This extends west of Sanford to the Geneva ferry, five miles south.

The wet, cold spring is said to have caused a material decrease in Kansas this season in the supply of poultry and eggs. Turkeys are especially scarce.

LAZY LIVER

"I find Cascarets so good that I would not be without them. I was troubled a great deal with torpid liver and headaches. Now since taking Cascarets Candy Cathartic I feel very much better. I shall certainly recommend them to my friends as the best medicine I have ever seen."

READ THIS REMARKABLE CURE

"I was much afflicted with rheumatism, writes Ed. C. Nud, Iowa, Sedgwick Co., Kansas, 'going about on crutches and suffering a great deal of pain. I was induced to try Ballard's Snow Liniment, which cured me, after using three 50c bottles. IT IS THE GREATEST LINIMENT I EVER USED; have recommended it to a number of persons, all express themselves as being benefited by it. I now walk without crutches, and am able to perform a great deal of light labor on the farm.'"

G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT.

Toledo, O., in Gala Attire in Honor of The Old Veterans.

Toledo, O., Sept. 1.—Monday the forty-second national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic really opened, although the program of the day called for nothing save the renewal of old acquaintances.

The banner day of the encampment will come on Wednesday, when the G. A. R. parade will share honors with William H. Taft, republican candidate for president; Senator Foraker, Governor Harris and others. The gentlemen mentioned will be tendered a reception on that day by the Lincoln Club, and will review the parade. Governor Wilton, of Kentucky, is also expected.

No city in which a national encampment has been held, the veterans declare, has been more profusely decorated than the metropolis of the Maumee valley. Flags and electric lights in patriotic design are everywhere, and bunting runs in hvelets along every street in the business district. The housing of the old soldiers in hotels and at private residences meets with general commendation.

PASSES THE $200,000 MARK.

Earnings of Keene's Racing Stables For Year 1908.

New York, Sept. 1.—James R. Keene's racing stable passed the $200,000 mark in its earnings for the season of 1908 last Saturday at the Sheepshead Bay track, when the single item of the Futurity made the biggest addition of the year to the stable's earnings.

The stable, which last year made a new world's record, for winnings, with a total of $404,000, is well in the lead on the winning list of the present year and in spite of the altered conditions of racing under the new law, has prospects of closely approaching the remarkable record of 1907.

Anti-Slavist Movement.

Paris, Sept. 1.—A dispatch from Lisbon says that the international organization of anti-Slavists has taken up the matter of the treatment of the natives of Angola, a Portuguese possession in West Africa, which is described as disguised slavery, equal to anything in the Belgian Congo. It is understood, the dispatch says, that the British and American governments have been asked to intervene in the autumn.

SACKING THE TUILERIES.

An Incident of the Revolution of 1848 in France.

The sight that presented itself was the strangest I have ever seen and has remained in my memory almost as vividly as if it were yesterday. The magnificent apartments of the palace were soon filled with as strange a set of ruffians as you could meet anywhere. It seemed as if they were all mad or drunk, and yet they were as jolly as school boys. They seemed positively to revel in destruction and to yell with delight as they smashed and tore everything to pieces that they came across. There was scarcely a picture that was not cut into ribbons, and ornaments, however costly, were thrown down and broken to atoms.

While I was standing in one of the grand apartments, looking on in wonder, a little man, with a sword almost as big as himself, stood in front of a magnificent mirror that reached from the floor to the ceiling. He surveyed it for a moment, and then, as though he were about to storm a town single handed, went deliberately up to it and with one blow of his great cavalry blade shattered it to pieces. As they fell at his feet he put on a grand air and said "La!" as if this was one of the greatest deeds he had ever accomplished and the proudest moment of his life.—"Sketches From Memory," G. A. Storey.

GREEN THE BEST COLOR.

Saves the Eyes and the Temper, Says a London Doctor.

"If the whole of London were painted green it would have a wonderful effect upon the health and spirits of us Londoners," said one of London's leading specialists. "Eyesight and health are most closely connected, and among town dwellers eyesight is steadily deteriorating. Green is one of nature's cures for worry and fatigue. Watch a man who is worried or tired out and see how often he will wander to a window from which he can gaze on a tree in leaf. Instinctively his eyes seek the restful green of the foliage. A great deal of the good obtained from a visit to the country is from the incessant environment of the green fields and green leaves.

"A green room, too, is a splendid thing. I know of a case of a popular actress who could never understand why it was that in a certain room in her house she could always rest so much better than in any other one. She mentioned the fact to me one day, and I pointed out to her that the paper and furniture were entirely green."—London Mirror.

"That Which Is Worth Having Is Worth Advertising For"

The old adage that what is worth having is worth asking for is still true—true of the more intricate life of today.

The thing you want—whether it is a used piano or a home, whether it is a ready-made business or a lost pocket-book—is obtained readily through advertising, and with difficulty, or not at all, through other means.

A REMOVAL and—THE REASON

This is to notify the public that we have removed our stock of Crockery, China and Glassware from the Graham building, 116 East Main street N., to our main stores, 120 E. Liberty street, where the entire upper floor will be devoted to this department.

This move will concentrate our business, and at the same time materially decrease our expenses. Taking into consideration these facts does it not look reasonable that we will now be in a position to sell this line at greatly reduced prices? That's the reason.

Come to our store, visit this department, and we will take pleasure in showing you the handsomest and most complete line ever seen in this town.

Dr. E. B. Howell of Newberry, one of the most widely-known physicians of the West End, was a business visitor to Gainesville yesterday.

Dr. J. H. Hodges, who has been in New York for the past two weeks, writes The Sun that he will return to Gainesville about September 5th.

J. A. Rosborough and son, Fritz, were in the city from Windsor yesterday, spending the day with the former's daughter, Mrs. T. M. King.

G. Henry Davis, of the livery firm of Crawford & Davis, left yesterday for Atlanta, Ga. He will also visit other sections of that State before returning home.

When moving silent pictures, are so true to life as to create bursts of applause they must be good. That's the kind the Electric Theatre is showing daily, at only ten cents admission.

Mrs. S. M. Davis and children, who have been spending the summer at Chautauqua, N. Y., have left the latter place for a tour through Canada. Mr. Davis will return to Gainesville during the present week.

John D. Luther, a well-known citizen of Old Town, was at the Brown House yesterday. Mr. Luther, aside from his other extensive interests, is the owner of the ferry across the Suwannee river at Old Town.

The Electric Theatre charges only ten cents admission, and gives you two hours of fun and instructive views of moving pictures. Don't miss any, for they are changed daily, and are too good to lose sight of.

The many friends of Geo. F. Mason, the efficient clerk in the office of the county judge, will regret to learn that he has been quite sick for the past week. His condition was reported much better yesterday, and it is hoped that he will soon be able to resume his duties.

"Oh! Julia, did you see those wonderfully beautiful moving pictures Monday night?" "I certainly did; and do you know that a gentleman from Baltimore who was present said that he had seen nothing to surpass them anywhere and that his city could boast of no such entertainment."

Mrs. Nelson of Williston is in the city visiting the family of J. R. Plummer, in South Gainesville.

Col. F. Y. Smith, a prominent young lawyer of Alachua, was in Gainesville yesterday on professional business.

The front of the Continental Cafe is being considerably improved in appearance by the liberal application of paint.

Hal Wood of Evinston, member of the firm of Wood & Evinston, was transacting business in Gainesville yesterday.

The Commercial is only one hundred yards from the square, on East Main street north. W. G. Richardson, Proprietor.

Wall papering and everything pertaining to the decorating line by practical and experienced men. Get our estimates at office on West Main street, North. Chas. Gladly.

No dancing of the moving pictures shown at the Electric Theatre. They are perfectly steady therefore, do not hurt the eye. A splendid lot will be shown this week, some costing to make fifteen and twenty thousand dollars.

J. L. Slocum of Ft. White was in Gainesville yesterday and paid this office a pleasant and profitable call. He came to appear before the school board for his district, not knowing that the meeting of that body had been postponed for a week.

Among the visitors to Gainesville yesterday was Justice of the Peace E. T. Henderson of Newberry. Judge Henderson is justly regarded as one of the best justices of the peace in the county, and he is well posted on all matters relating to his official duties.

The ladies are unanimous in their commendation of the beautiful class of moving pictures shown daily at the Electric Theatre. Not only are they amusing, but the educational features are so excellent for the children. And then the price is so small, only ten cents.

J. H. Coffee, receiver of the Bank of Waldo, was in the city for a few hours yesterday. Mr. Coffee, who is attending the Atlanta College of Physicians and Surgeons, expects to return to that institution in a few days, after a pleasant and profitable vacation.

Hon. J. A. Williams, Democratic nominee for the State Senate from Levy county, was in the city yesterday from his home at Cedar Key. Col. Williams is one of the best posted men on public affairs in the State, and he promises to make his mark in the upper branch of the next Legislature. Watch him.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. E. E. Katz, who have resided here with the family of their daughter, Mrs. M. J. Cannon, left yesterday for Tampa, their old home, where they will remain. While here they made many friends who regretted very much their departure, but wish them success and happiness wherever they may be.

The large oak tree which has stood for the past forty years or more on the corner of North Garden and West Mechanic streets, and which was one of the oldest landmarks in that vicinity, has been cut down, and workmen were busy sawing up the trunk yesterday. For some time the tree has been dead, and the street committee of the council deemed its removal advisable.

Attention is called to the change of advertisement of W. S. Dorsey & Co., who announce the removal of their crockery and china store from the Graham building to their main store, 120 E. Liberty street, where they will devote the entire up-stairs to this department. This enterprising firm carries one of the finest, largest and most up-to-date lines in crockery, china and glassware in this section of the State, and invite the public to call and examine the stock.
